To Whom It May Concern

This is to confirm that Poknapham grants permission to Dr. Lenin Laitonjam, Assistant Professor, Department of CSE, National Institute of Technology Mizoram, and his research team to use news articles published by Poknapham for non-commercial academic research in Natural Language Processing (NLP) and language-model development for the Manipuri language.

The permitted use includes the collection, processing, training, fine-tuning, and evaluation of language models and the development of academic research datasets based on the articles.

We also permit the resulting research dataset to be shared with bona fide researchers through an academic repository or other appropriate research channels, provided that it is used strictly for non-commercial research purposes and that Poknapham is appropriately acknowledged as the source of the original news content.

The copyright and ownership of the original news articles shall remain with Poknapham. This permission does not constitute a transfer of copyright or ownership of the original content.

We have no objection to the publication of research findings, associated metadata and annotations, preprocessing/training code, and trained model weights resulting from this research, subject to the above conditions.

We wish the research team success in their efforts to develop computational resources for the Manipuri language.
